

Report from the International Society of Endocrinology

The Seventh International Congress took place in Quebec City, July 1 to 7, 1984, and was attended by 6,300 registrants. The Congress site proved adequate to the demands, and the superb organization and warm friendship of the Canadian hosts were enjoyed by all. All of us must congratulate Dr. Fernand Labrie, Chairman of the Local Organizing Committee, and his many colleagues for their hard work and success. In addition to the Congress, there were 18 Satellite Symposia organized for the weeks just before and after the Congress. Thus, there was a rich experience in endocrinology for those who attended. The Central Committee of the ISE selected Kyoto, Japan as the site of the 1988 Congress. It will be held in July. Professor Hiroo Imura will be the Chairman of the Local Organizing Committee. His address is:
