Proceedings of the Seventh International Conference of the International Society of Geographical Pathology

London, June 28th–30th, 1960
Published on behalf of the Directing Committee of the Society
by Prof. Fred. C. Roulet, M.D. (Basel)
Secretary general of the Society
Published with the financial assistance of the Council for International Organizations of Medical Sciences, an organization subsidized by Unesco and World Health Organization
Corkill, T.F. (Wellington/New Zealand): Experience of Toxaemia Control in Australia and New Zealand 428
Rauramo, L. (Turku/Finland): The Incidence of Eclampsia in Finland, 1927-1958 435
Brzezinski, A.; Serr, D.M. and Koren'Z. (Jerusalem/Israel): Comparative Studies on Pre-Eclampsia and Eclampsia in Israel Immigrant Populations 452
Takaki, F.; Magara, M. and Yuasa, Shu (Tokyo): Toxemias of Pregnancy in Japan 459
Mastboom, J.L. (The Hague): Incidence of Eclampsia and Maternal Mortality from Eclampsia in the Netherlands during the Period from 1920 to 1960 474
Lawson, J. B. (Ibadan): Pre-Eclampsia and Eclampsia in Nigeria 478
Rendle Short, C. W. (Kampala, Uganda): Eclampsia and Presumed Pre-Eclampsia among Africans in Kampala, Uganda 484
Gauallér, B. u. and Agüero, O. (Caracas): Toxemias of Pregnancy in Venezuela 488
Magee, T. P. (Trinidad/West Indies): Socio-Economic Aspects of Pre-Eclampsia and Eclampsia in the Obstetric Unit of the Colonial Hospital, Port of Spain, Trinidad, West Indies 504
MacGillivray, I. (Aberdeen/Scotland): Pre-Eclampsia in Great Britain and Ireland 507
International Reviews of Eclampsia and Pre-Eclampsia – Rapports internationaux sur l’éclampsie et la pré-éclampsie – Internationale Berichte über Eklampsie und Prae-Eklampsie
Daamen, C. B. F. (Rotterdam): The Change in the Frequency of Eclampsia before and after World War II (1939-1945) 513
Discussion 553
Morbid Anatomy of Mother, Child and Placenta in Eclampsia – Anatomie pathologique de la mere, de l’enfant et du placenta – Pathologische Anatomie der Mutter, des Kindes und der Placenta
Gouan, T. A. D. (Glasgow/Scotland): The Pathogenesis of Eclamptic Lesions 561
Ishikawa, E. (Tokyo): The Kidney in the Toxemias of Pregnancy . . 576
Gauallér, B. v. and Dominguez, A. (Caracas): Apoplektische Blutungen in der Schwangerschaftstoxikose 595
Goodall, H. B. (Dundee): Haemoglobinuria in Eclampsia and its Relationship to Hepatic Damage 602
Discussion 629
Mahran, M. (Edinburgh): Water and Electrolyte Metabolism in Pregnant Women 647
Klopper, A. (Aberdeen): Oestriol Excretion in Pre-Eclampsia . . 652
Chesley, L. C; Cosgrove, R. A. and Annitto, J. E. (Jersey City/N.J.): Pregnancy in the Sisters and Daughters of Eclamptic Women . . 662
Hosemann, H.; Hellmich, H. and Haller, J. (Göttingen): Follow-up Studies on Posttoxaemic Maternal Residual Changes . . . . 667
Goodall, H. B. (Dundee): Megaloblastic Anaemia of Pregnancy and the Puerperium 682
Hanington, E. (London): The Relationship of the ABO Blood Groups to Pregnancy, and Toxaemia 687
Free Communications – Communications libres – Freie Vorträge
Miall, W. E. and Cochrane, A. L. (Penarth/Glamorgan): The Distribution of Arterial Pressure in Wales and Jamaica 690
Watler, D.C; Bras, G. and Brooks, S.E.H. (Jamaica/W.I.): The Incidence of Malignant Neoplasms in Jamaica 698
Henschen, F. (Stockholm): Cribra Cranii, a Skull Condition Said to be of Racial or Geographical Nature 724