Ophthalmic Research features original papers, reviews and short communications reporting on translational and clinical studies. Authors from throughout the world cover topics on glaucoma, cataract and refractive surgery, retina, uveitis, and other fields in connection with physical, physiologic, pharmacological, biochemical and molecular biological aspects of ophthalmology. This journal provides a record of international clinical research for both researchers and clinicians in ophthalmology. The journal further offers, at a reasonable price, the possibility of publishing dedicated supplements and abstracts of conferences and symposia. Please consult the managing editor for this.

A collection of extraordinary essays on key issues in the natural sciences

GOTTFRIED SCHATZ

A MATTER OF WONDER

WHAT BIOLOGY REVEALS ABOUT US, OUR WORLD, AND OUR DREAMS

Where do we come from? Is our destiny determined by the genes we inherit? Do we all see the same blue color when we look at the sky? In this book Gottfried (Jeff) Schatz, the world-renowned biochemist, gives lucid – albeit often surprising – answers to universal questions and takes the reader on a fascinating journey of discovery across the boundaries of scientific disciplines. With passion and a keen sense of wonder he draws on philosophy, cultural history and art to formulate his reflections on the mystery of life. The key to understanding life is to be found in its chemistry, and he proves that this is no dry endeavor and certainly not devoid of beauty. The result is a collection of eloquently and poetically written essays dealing with key issues in the natural sciences. It will appeal not only to scientists, but also to all inquisitive minds, regardless of educational and professional background.

“A collection of extraordinary essays, reminiscent in many ways – scope, erudition, clarity, occasional whimsicality and sassiness – of Stephen Jay Gould’s essays for Natural History”
Herbert Deinert (Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y.)

“A remarkable fusion of science and humanism”
Eugene P. Kennedy (Harvard University, Boston, Mass.)
In this volume of Developments in Ophthalmology, a panel of renowned glaucoma surgeons reports its findings and the updated evidence-based literature data on indications, outcomes, pearls and pitfalls of techniques in which they all have an undisputable ‘hands-on’ everyday experience. The publication begins with chapters on conventional procedures, i.e. trabeculectomy (still the gold standard), deep sclerectomy, and glaucoma drainage device implantation explicitly focusing on postoperative management. The role of the ocular surface in glaucoma surgery and the issue of wound healing and its modulation through antimetabolites are further discussed. In the second part, the attention shifts to new techniques which still have a marginal role, but are promising for particular indications. In the last part, the greatest challenges of glaucoma surgery such as the surgical approach to angle closure, concomitant glaucoma and cataract as well as pediatric glaucoma are discussed in detail. Finally, the last chapter is dedicated to cyclodestructive techniques. This volume is recommended to glaucoma surgeons and glaucoma specialists seeking information on the best therapy for their patients, but also to general ophthalmologists who refer their patients for surgery or follow them up afterwards.

First-line therapy for the treatment of macular oedema following BRVO and CRVO or inflammation due to non-infectious intermediate or posterior uveitis.
Uveitis is a potentially blinding inflammatory disease that presents one of the most serious and complicated therapeutic challenges in the field of ophthalmology. During the last decade, the therapeutic armamentarium of the uveitis specialist has enormously expanded. Novel biologic agents and intraocular therapy are becoming a valuable alternative treatment to control ocular inflammatory diseases and inflammatory macular edema – the most important cause of visual loss in patients with uveitis.

This publication is designed to bring together the principles of therapy of patients with non-infectious uveitis and the most recent therapeutic options available. General ophthalmologists, uveitis specialists as well as residents will find it a useful update on the latest innovative treatment options for patients with non-infectious uveitis.
