Editorial

Welcome to the new 'Clinical Forum'! In this issue of Folia Phoniatria et Logopaedica there appears for the first time a new section, called 'Clinical Forum', which from now on will come back at irregular intervals. In it you will find primarily clinically oriented papers, such as 'How I do it', reports on medical and/or therapeutic intervention, instructive clinical failures, and short case studies. These papers may thus be less scientifically oriented but we are convinced that the 'Clinical Forum' will be an asset to the journal insofar as it presents aspects of the practical side of phoniatrics and logopaedics.

All manuscripts, whether authors send them straight to the 'Clinical Forum' or to an Editor, will be subjected to peer review.

All our readers are hereby invited to write and to send us manuscripts of 4–6 pages (2–3 printed pages) intended for publication in 'Clinical Forum'. If you specifically want it to be there and only there, please mark it 'Clinical Forum'.

We look forward to receiving contributions for this new section.
