

Karger Publishers

Karger Publishers, headquartered in Basel, Switzerland, is a globally active publishing house in health sciences. It is independent and family-run in the fourth generation by Chairwoman and Publisher Gabriella Karger. Committed to “Connecting and Advancing Health Sciences”, Karger Publishers helps to carry the spark of great ideas and findings with knowledge that matters and experiences that make a difference – a spark which it aims to spread both within the scientific community as well as to clinicians, and patients. The two corresponding business areas are “Karger Research” and “Karger Healthcare”. The company puts great emphasis on direct and personal relationships with all of its partners.

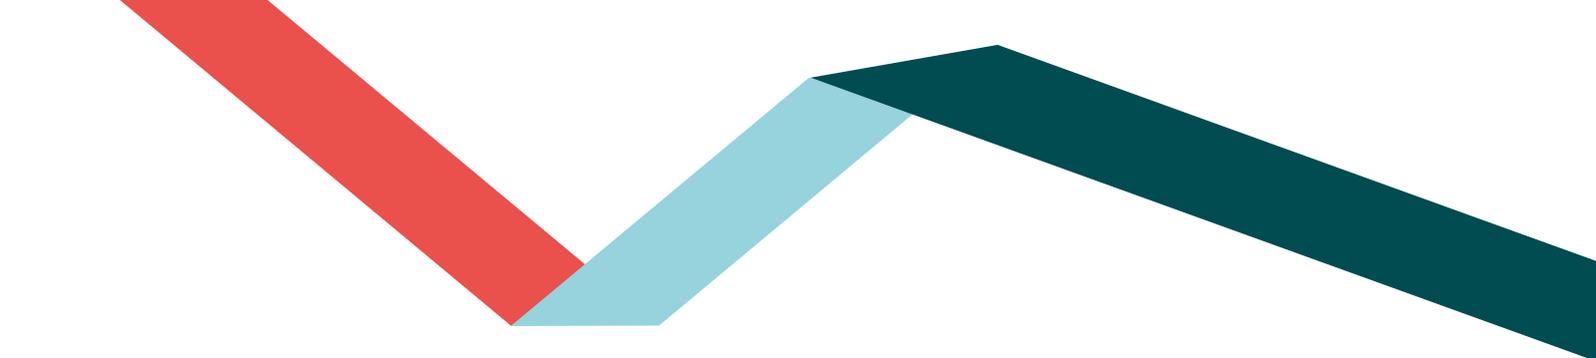

The Karger publishing program for the research community encompasses over 100 peer-reviewed journals, including a growing number of Gold and Platinum Open Access journals. Over 200 editors-in-chief affiliated with important clinical or research centers ensure the high scientific standard of the publications. They are supported by around 5,000 editorial board members and close to 10,000 independent experts acting as peer reviewers.

Karger Publishers’ booklist contains well over 9,000 titles, with a focus on review-type series and volumes. The research-oriented portfolio is published predominantly in English, reflecting the international character of the scientific community. All of Karger Publishers’ content is also available in appropriate digital formats.

With “Karger Research” scientists will be able to turn to Karger Publishers along the whole research cycle and not just when they are ready to publish their results. Services and partnerships in the Open Research space will be announced soon.

Karger Publishers also supports the knowledge transfer from scientific research to clinical practice through its “Karger Healthcare” business. The portfolio for clinicians is centered around the Karger Kompass journal series, the Fast Facts handbook series and, most recently, a number of endeavors in the area of clinical decision support and educational application space. Knowledge transfer to patients and their caregivers is achieved by using guidebooks, doctor-patient interaction material, and topic-specific online content.

In June 2022, Karger Publishers acquired the science communications agency > Research Publishing International \(RPI\), based in Gloucestershire, UK, in a move to strengthen its publishing business and expand its service portfolio. In addition to supporting the knowledge transfer cycle Karger will also offer new services: By joining forces, RPI and Karger will also be able to provide more services to researchers who would like to have their work translated into easily accessible language and more creative formats, such as animations and podcasts, to reach a wider audience. ►

-
- ▶ Karger Publishers is an independent Swiss publishing company with 230 employees worldwide and was established in 1890. Chairwoman and Publisher Gabriella Karger leads the publishing company and S. Karger AG together with CEO Daniel Ebnetter and COO Andre Janssen. In addition to the company headquarters in Basel, Switzerland and subsidiaries in Freiburg, Germany and Abingdon, United Kingdom, there are Karger regional offices or representatives in Australia, Brazil, China, France, India, Japan, Malaysia, Mexico, Saudi Arabia, the United Arab Emirates, and the United States.