Karger Publishers is a worldwide publisher of scientific and medical content based in Basel, Switzerland. Connecting and advancing Health Sciences since 1893, Karger is continuously evolving, keeping the pace with the current developments and shifts in research and publishing.

For the Strategic Competence Center “Digital Health” within Karger Labs, the Karger division focused on strategy, innovation and product development, we are looking for a motivated person to join our increasingly agile organization as a

Strategic Competence Specialist, Digital Health (80–100%)

This multifaceted role includes:

- Tracking trends in funding, products, services and new market segments in digital health
- Analyzing strategies, activities, and investments of competitors/players in the pharmaceutical industries, device and software industries including GAFA
- Writing grant proposals
- Writing project proposals and manage these
- Communicating the impact of Digital Health initiatives internally in management and externally with project partners and potential stakeholders
- Drafting reports for key decision-makers including the Management Board
- Assisting the Strategic Competence Lead in complex projects

Qualifications and experience required:

- PhD student or PostDoc level
- Professional training and experience in the health industry is a plus
- Strong organizational and project management skills and a problem-solving approach
- Flair for numbers and statistical analysis
- A “getting things done” mentality and design thinking skills
- Highly service – and goal orientated with a strong sense of responsibility
- Very good IT knowledge including the standard tools (PP, Word, Excel)
- Excellent English, preferably native speaker and fluent German (additional languages a plus)

Karger offers a work environment where personal development and responsibility are highly valued at all levels. The compensation package includes all the benefits of the Swiss social system.

For further information about Karger or the position, please contact our Strategic Competence Lead, Digital Health, Mr. Laurenz Baltzer, directly. We look forward to receiving your application directly at humanresources@karger.com.