Call for Papers

Forthcoming special topic issue in DIB in 2020:

The Future of Digital Health

The issue will have three focus areas:

- Maturation of the field – opinion pieces on where the field needs to go and updates on how current capabilities are gaining regulatory and payor acceptance
- Emerging capabilities – original research on passive, multimodal, predictive, behavioral measures, interventions and other applications
- Talent – perspectives on careers and education in digital health

For submission or any queries, please contact:
