Research Integrity/Publication Ethics Manager (60–80%) (Basel, Switzerland)

This multifaceted role includes:
• Maintaining comprehensive and up-to-date knowledge on publication ethics
• Handling ethical issues relating to publishing in a structured and timely manner (pre- and post-publication) in line with the COPE guidelines
• Liaising with authors, editors, and other external stakeholders in matters relating to publication ethics
• Reporting and monitoring the history of cases
• Identifying necessary modifications to peer-review and publication workflows to ensure alignment with standards of publication ethics
• Advising internal staff on the implementation and monitoring of measures to ensure alignment
• Supporting, advising and training of internal staff on issues relating to publication ethics
• Attending conferences and engaging with external partners

Qualification and experience required:
• University degree in science (preferably to doctorate level)
• Significant experience in publishing peer-reviewed scientific journals
• Comprehensive knowledge of current ethical policies in scholarly publishing
• Excellent communication skills (both written and oral) and the ability to adapt to various stakeholders
• A collaborative, team player mentality, a proactive and problem-solving mindset
• Organized, outstanding attention to detail and ability to work under time pressure
• Language skills – English: excellent command; German: preferable (not a must-have); further languages would be an advantage
• Very good IT knowledge (MS Office, etc.)

What we offer:
• A work environment where personal development and responsibility are highly valued
• Modern offices that contribute to innovation and collaboration
• Flexible working hours and generous remote work arrangements
• Centrally located workplace
• Benefits of the Swiss social system

If you would like to take on the challenge this role presents, we look forward to receiving your application directly at humanresources@karger.com.

About us: Karger Publishers is a worldwide publisher of scientific and medical content based in Basel, Switzerland. It is independent and family-led in the fourth generation by Chairwoman and Publisher Gabriella Karger. Connecting and advancing health sciences since 1890, Karger has been continuously evolving, keeping pace with the current developments and shifts in research and publishing. The publishing house is dedicated to serving the information needs of the scientific community, clinicians and patients with publications of high-quality content and services in health sciences. Karger Publishers has 240 employees and is present in 15 countries around the globe.